HUMANS CAN CREATE POWERFUL SOLUTIONS TO COMPLEX PROBLEMS

The Human Factor is a strategy firm focused on the power of stakeholder engagement to enable change, innovation, and meaningful resolution to long-standing barriers.

Learn why our process is different

Google

"[The Human Factor] took such an intentional approach to designing our field tests.

We all had a lot more confidence in the outcomes and the data because we knew the way we sourced the responses was so much more intentional."

The Human Factor helped us engage our leadership team and partners through thoughtful workshop and experiment design. We were able to deeply understand our partners' motivations and align priorities for a program redesign, helping us secure internal buy-in with clear next steps.

"[The Human Factor] took such an intentional approach to designing our field tests. We all had a lot more confidence in the outcomes and the data because we knew the way we sourced the responses was so much more intentional."

"I expected this to be painful, but it stayed productive, even with some strong personalities in the room. Coming into the office the following week was like coming to a completely overhauled culture."

Curious if this process will be helpful for the challenge you're facing?

